

Supreme Trinity

Pressure re-distributing foam cushion

The Supreme Trinity cushion incorporates a combination of visco elastic and CMHR foam providing excellent pressure re-distribution coupled with offering high levels of patient comfort. The CMHR foam base offers strength and support and prevents the cushion from “foam fatigue”.

The cushion cover has high frequency welded seams and a fully concealed zip reduces the possibility of fluid ingress thus aiding infection control protocols. The Supreme Trinity cushion is suitable for users considered to be up to a very high risk of pressure ulcer development.

Features	Benefits
